

Back up.

I don't know why, but after upgrading WordPress a couple of weeks ago none of my posts would display. Fortunately I was able to export them, and to back up all of my media. Today I completely uninstalled WordPress and rebuilt the site from the ground up.

Now that I can once again create new content and have it display I'll resume my sporadic posting schedule.