

Thank You

I'm thankful for a lot this year.

I started a new job in May.

I had my grandkids for a visit over the summer.

I moved into a new (to me) house at the end of summer.

As has been the case for 27+ years I've had the love of a wonderful woman.

Despite a horrible accident my son is still alive and well.

I'm thankful for all this and more. And most of all, I am thankful for the grace of God by which I've been saved.

how about you?
